

THURSDAY EVENING, APRIL 19, 1900.

As THE white boys in the graduating class at the Carlisle high school naturally object to participating in the public closing exercises of their class, with negroes, the white board of directors of that school say that unless the manifestation of that objection be stopped at once, they will abolish the old custom of holding the exercises. But Carlisle always was an abolition town, and afforded a safe resting place for runaway negroes on their way to Canada; and what's born in the flesh is bred in the bone. The persistent sttempt to change natures, by man's laws, is characteristic of many Northern republicans; and besides, Carlisle was the headquarters of the Whisky Rebellion.

PEACE has its expense as well as war, and so great is that of the former, in Cuba, that the administration refuses to state its amount; but it is well-known that all the many "Cuban patriots" now in the pay of this government are most luxurious in their mode of living. and that their only supplies of money come from the U. S. Treasury, and out of the pockets of the tax-ridden people of this country. But the great republic in America that would crush the two small ones in Africa, went to war to relieve the Cubans from Spanish mir. rule.

Nor satisfied with war in the West Indies and the Philippines, the jingoes of this country would now proceed to hostilities with Turkey, because it will not pay enormous damages for the destruction of some American missionaries' property in Armenia, burned during a disturbance betweeen the Mohammedans and the Christians in that country, in which Americans should not have been involved, and for which destruction Turkey was not and should not be held responsible and never agreed to be.

COL. PETTIT, in whose command were some of the Virginia troops during the late Spanish and the present Philippine war, has been court martialed for turning over a Filipino prisoner to the king of one of the Philippine Islands, who killed him on the spot. The great trouble with many of the officers in the U. S. service is that they vainly imagine themselves to be monarchs of all they survey and that their right there is none to dispute. The fantastic tricks they play make their sensible friends we

MR. CLEVELAND baving succeeded in defeating the democratic party four years ago, is now keen set on an a tempt to effect the same object next November. Having gratuitously injured the party that gave him all he has and made him what he is, he, after the manner of his kind, hates it, and so at sorbing is his bate, that he loses sight of the fact that the foundation principle of the party of which he still pretends to be a member, is the indisputable right of the majority to rule.

Norming has been heard of the once famous Gen. Funston, who, some Northern newspapers alleged, at the head of his troops, swam a river in Luzon with his sword in his mouth, since he had some Filipino prisoners shot for defending their native country against marauding invaders. But other Northern generals, during the war between the States, treated the Confederate soldiers their troops had captured the same way, and were praised, honored and promoted for doing so.

THE LATEST accounts from Manila are to the effect that though the war there "is over", the slaughter of the Filipinos still contiques, and that for every American soldier killed there. hundred of natives are shot down and their towns looted and burned. But, all the same, the President and General Otis, and some Northern preachers, say the shooting and looting and burning should go on merrily, in the name of humanity, civilization, Christianity and sweet liberty!

FIFTY-SIXTH CONGRESS.

Washington, April 10. SENATE.

Mr. Penrose from the committee on commerce, reported favorably a bill to provide for a revenue cutter for use at Philadelphia. It was passed. Mr. Forsker introduced a resolution to provide for the administration of civil affairs in Porto Rico pending the ap-polarment and qualification of the civil officers provided by the act passed by Congress to provide revenues and a civil government for Porto Rico. It went over temporarily.

After routine business was disposed of Mr. Foraker's resolution was again called up. In response to an inquiry from Mr. Tillman, Mr. Foraker ex-plained that the resolution was off-red because the President did not have sufficient time to make his selections for civil offices in Porto Rico. It was merely intended to continue for a few weeks the military officials.

Mr. Tillman contended that the constitution had not followed the flag, but he presumed the military had to be preserved in order to have a great powwow when the new governor of the island is installed.

Mr. Daniel offered an amendment that no m litary officer holding a civil position should receive additional salry. Rejected. The resolution was then passed.

Mr. Chandler introduced a resolution that the committee on printing be directed to investigate facts connected with the compilation and publication of the messages and papers of the This is directed at Representative

The House today resumed consideration of the naval appropriation bill immediately after the reading of the journal. The pending question was an appropriation of $100,000 for ocean and lake surveys under the authority of the Secretary of the Navy. These proposed surveys include the coasts and harbors of the residue alleged secretary of the Navy. of the various islands acquired from Spain and the charting of obstructions to navigation in the great lakes.

Messrs, Cannon, Moody and Bromwell led a fight against the provision on the ground that the work should be done by the civilian coast and geodetic survey instead of by the military au-thorities. Mr. Moody took the floor in behalf of this position. He said naval officers could not do the survey work as well as the trained scientific civi - diction to the coasts of the United States. The navy had always made surveys of the ocean and of the islands in it. No change was proposed in this bill. Every navy in the world made its own coast surveys except that of Portu-gal and of the United States. He be-iteved it to be essential that the navy should make its own charts of the Cuban, Philippine and Porto Rican waters.

Mr. Berry and Mr. Cummings favor ed allowing the navy to make the surveys. The latter characterized the coast and geodetic survey as a political bu-reau, run by civilians with uniforms more ornamental than those worn at the battle at Manila. The superinten-dent of the bureau had adopted a flag for himself very similiar design to that of Admiral Dewey but he was neither a surveyor nor a seaman.

Mr. Littlefield said that the nav-ships now in the Philippines could make the necessary surveys in that archipeisgo, without much additional expense, while if the work was done by t e coast and geodetic survey men and Mr. Cannon offered an amendment substituting for the original provision a new paragraph appropriating $10,000 "for special ocean surveys," and spoke at length in favor of leaving the surveys of the island coasts to the civilian

Strike Leaders Arrested

Croton Landing, N. Y, April 19.-A new plan has been taken to bring the striking Italians at Crotom Dam to terms. Sheriff Mollov, with 30 war-rants, arrived here at 8 o'clock this morning, and then proceeded to the scene of the trouble to arrest the ringleaders of the strike. A company of the 7th regiment was detailed to assist him. The houses were searched and as soon as an It lian was caught he was securely handcuffed. The work was quickly and quietly done. Molloy entered each house, followed by several of his deputies, while the soldiers lined the streets. As fast as the arrests were made the prisoners were placed under a guard of soldiers. At ten o'clock, eight Italians had been arrested and Sheriff Molloy was still engaged in fer-reting out the others from their places of concealment. No trouble is expected in making the other arrests. It is now believed that the ringleaders be ing out of the way many of the Italians will agree to return to work.

At noon 23 arrests had been made and Sheriff Molloy was still searching for more Italians.

Burned in a Vault. New York, April 19.-By a strange vagary of fate Henry Hughes, a machinist employed in Rogers & Company's factory, met death in a manner he had dreamed of for years and to eyade which he had taken, he believed, every precaution. The factory was burned yes erday and Hughes's charred remains were found today in a supposed-y fire-proof vault whither he had his cotton picking machine removed some time ago to ensure bis safety. Hugher had the vault made fire-proof, as he of the conference is to discuss and take said he had a premoni ion that the fac-action on the recognition of Bishop Hen tory would burn and that he would ry M. Jackson, former coadjutor bish meet death in that way. When the fire broke out yesterday the man closed the doors of his trap and soon he was pen-ned in by flames. The vault failed to resist the fire and Hughes was burned to a crisp.
